MISSOURI'S RACING LAW.

St. Louis, Mo., March 22.—The Missouri racing bill is certain to become a law. It has passed both houses and is sure of Gov. Stephens' signature. It gives ninety days of racing to each track and prohibits foreign pooling and poolrooms. But it does not go into effect until ninety days after it is made complete by the governor's signature. Consequently the Missouri poolrooms will run until the end of June. The poolroom men think that in the light of recent decisions by the Missouri Courts the bill is unconstitutional and will test it.

The measure does away with night racing and prohibits over 90 days of racing at any one track. Bookmakers are to be licensed at the rate of $4 per day, and the entire regulation of the sport is placed in the control of a State Racing Commission to consist of the Governor, State Treasurer and State Auditor. The latter is authorized to appoint deputies to collect the tax from the bookmakers.

There is already talk of another mile track being constructed in St. Louis, but nothing definite has developed in connection with the matter as yet.

A FAMOUS ENGLISH RACING CASE.

Five of the Judges of the English Court of Queen's Bench delivered judgment in the case of Dunn, the bookmaker of Tattersall's, deciding that ring betting is illegal. This decision will wipe out the bookmakers and effect a revolution in betting. This case, originally styled the Anti-Gambling League vs. Richard Dunn, has occupied the attention of the English courts for the past six months. The betting permits a bookmaker or professional betting man to carry on his business on a race track, in an "inclosed space," provided he confines himself to a fixed spot for the purpose of carrying on his business. Dunn was charged by the Anti-Gambling Society with having violated this and other portions of the act, inasmuch as he had used the Hurst Park race track, of which he was part owner, for purposes of betting. The case has worked its way up from the first decision of the Kingston magistrates, through all the various appeal courts, each in turn quashing the decision of the court below. The respondent may yet go higher and ask for a judicial opinion from the House of Lords. From this court there is no appeal. The so-called anti-gambling crusade has been going on in England for the past two or three years. When it first assumed menacing proportions the "Sporting League" was organized. In the famous horse racing district of Newmarket the League put up H. McCalmont, a prominent turfman and one of the wealthiest commoners in England, to run against Sir George Newnes, who was supposed to be lending his support to the "crusaders." McCalmont was elected by an overwhelming majority.

THE AMERICAN

SPORTING MANUAL

The American Sporting Manual will be ready for delivery Saturday at 35 cents in paper and 50 cents in leather covers. It is a handsome book of pocket size. You can bet on its figures. It has all records up to January 1, 1897, and specially covers those of the running turf. There are two handicap tables within its covers. The figures on two sets of entries are given as illustrations to the tables. The book contains all track records, track speed and comparative speed applying to the handicap tables, and all the sporting records of 1896. Among its contents is a full list of the fights of 1896
